

NOAA FISHERIES SERVICE

NOAA Fisheries Service Sponsors Free Interactive Presentation on its Research and Conservation of Protected Marine Species

Please join us for an interactive lecture on the research NOAA Fisheries Service is undertaking with the commercial fishing industry to conserve and protect whales, sea turtles, and Atlantic sturgeon. Three experts will discuss the fishing gear that is being developed to reduce interactions and to enhance the management and recovery of these animals. Audience members will be invited to ask questions and handle prototype gear.

WHEN: Thursday, May 19, 2011

7:00 - 9:00 PM

WHERE: NOAA Fisheries Service
